

Cats and dogs are considered a senior at eight-years-old. Senior animals may not adjust well to a shelter environment and the Senior to Senior Foster Program allows residents at independent and assisted living facilities and 55 and older communities to foster these animals in their home.

Participating in this program offers many benefits for the animals as well as for the humans!

- Pets have therapeutic qualities and are proven to improve mood and reduce stress.
- A shelter setting can be taxing on senior animals, especially ones who were raised in a home.
- Senior animals are often overlooked in the shelter despite their good manners.
- Senior pets are content with a more relaxed lifestyle and are not as active or demanding as a younger animal.

THEY ARE YOUNG AT HEART, AND SO ARE YOU!

The Senior To Senior Foster Program strives to provide a comfortable and doting atmosphere in which our senior pets can live out their lives, while giving senior citizens a chance to enjoy the unconditional love that a senior pet can offer.

We provide everything that the pet may need. The only thing participants in the program need to provide is companionship and attention.
